USPA NEWS - "Instead of bothering to bring the 27th Amendment after the 26th through a fake parliament, we should openly declare a "monarchy", because the country is currently under complete dictatorship."

The foundation of Pakistan is "La ilaha illallah" – this word gives freedom to man from all kinds of slavery – Pakistan was liberated from the British by making great sacrifices so that it could become a country where every citizen could enjoy personal freedom – but here the situation is completely opposite and a mafia wants to keep the entire nation in slavery. I will stay in a prison cell but will not accept slavery. My message to all the people is that everyone should prefer imprisonment to such slavery because when we are not free outside, then what is the use of such liberation? Allama Iqbal's falcon flies high, it does not remain a slave to anyone –

I send a message to the entire nation, especially the workers and supporters of PTI, to start a movement against the system of oppression prevailing in the country after Ashura. For me, death is better than accepting this system of slavery.

My voice is being suppressed in every way so that my message does not reach the people and there is no one left to stand against oppression. But I will stand against oppression until my last breath - and I have faith in my Lord that the shadow of oppression will soon end in Pakistan.

Four things are very important in a democracy: the right to vote, the rule of law, morality, and a free media. The Twenty-sixth Constitutional Amendment has abolished all four.

1: The right to vote: When a dictator comes, he does not need votes, he runs the country with the power of a stick - the way Form 47 assemblies were created and now reserved seats have been distributed, this has made the people feel that their vote has no importance.

2: Rule of Law: The judiciary has been transformed into a subsidiary department of the government. The courts have been filled with judges of their own choosing and the hands and feet of independent judges have been tied - this only happens under martial law.

3: Morality of society: This amendment has buried morality in society. People who are not elected representatives of the people have been placed in the assemblies. The open buying and selling of assembly members is going on. And the judiciary is also under the thumb of the same mafia.

4: Independent Media: In the dictatorship, the media is completely chained. There is a complete ban on freedom of expression. Independent journalists are being targeted and the rest have been bought off.

Protest is a basic democratic and constitutional right - but our 26 MLAs who protested in the Punjab Assembly were suspended - Ahmed Bhachar and the PTI MPAs deserve kudos for challenging the Pharaohs - until our 26 MLAs are reinstated, our MLAs should hold their assembly outside - The two number assemblies of Form 47 are not representative of the people anyway -
